NEW FOOTBALL FACILITY OPENS IN 2012

Construction on a new $20.6 million football facility started in the summer of 2011 and will be completed by the fall of 2012.

The 60,000 square foot, two-story complex, which will house the Cyclone football team and its operational functions, will be located adjacent to the Bergstrom Indoor Practice Facility.

The new complex will include player and coach locker rooms, a team auditorium, position meeting rooms, coaches' offices, a reception area, strength and conditioning facilities, sports medicine center, video operations and an equipment room. Plans also call for a tunnel connecting the new complex to the playing field in Jack Trice Stadium.

"The new facility is a statement about Iowa State's commitment to providing the environment for our student-athletes to succeed on and off the field. It upgrades what we can do to ensure that our players reach their full potential. Our team will receive state-of-the-art assistance to develop as athletes and as students. It will be an essential boost to our support units: athletic training, game operations, communications and equipment staff which can provide services 365 days a year."

- Iowa State head coach Paul Rhoads

Paul Rhoads

Head Coach
Third Year at Iowa State

When Iowa State head football coach Paul Rhoads had his first team meeting in the spring of 2009, he told his Cyclone team that "I am proud to be your coach and that we will prepare diligently to win a bowl game."

Win a bowl game? In 2009? The Cyclones had been 8-27 over their three previous seasons.

"I'm sure a lot of us thought he was just trying to motivate us with inspirational talk like that," cornerback Leonard Johnson told The Des Moines Register. "He was stressing winning a bowl game, but we'd just lost 10 games in a row. That seemed a little out there."

Indeed. The New York Times rated Iowa State 112th among 120 NCAA FBS teams nationally to start the 2009 season. The Big 12 media ranked the Cyclones dead last in the league's pre-season poll.

At the Dec. 2008 press conference introducing him as Iowa State's new head football coach, Rhoads compared his return to ISU and his native state, to a Hollywood script. On the last day of 2009, his team wrote the best possible sequel. Inspired by its coach, an Iowa State squad that didn't win a conference game and lost its final 10 contests in 2008 bought into Rhoads' vision of immediate success. Iowa State's 2009 season ended with a Cyclone bowl game victory. The reward for keeping that faith was a seven-win season and a victory over Minnesota in the Insight Bowl played in sunny Tempe, Ariz. on New Year's Eve.

The 2010 season started just as the 2009 campaign had, with Iowa State picked for the cellar of the Big 12 North Division. On Oct. 23 before more than 100,000 Texas fans in Austin's Memorial Stadium, Rhoads' team did what no Cyclone football squad had ever done, beat the Longhorns. The 28-21 win at No. 22 Texas marked the first time Iowa State had won road games at a ranked opponent in consecutive years since 1976-77. For the second straight year, a Rhoads-led unit had slain a dragon on the opposing field. The Cyclones were an overtime loss against No. 9 Nebraska away from a second-straight bowl season despite playing the nation's toughest schedule. Iowa State finished tied for third in the Big 12 North. Make no doubt, Rhoads' players believe in their coach, as does the Cyclone football community.

Rhoads has stuck to his guns ever since his arrival and in the process unified the Cyclone Nation. What you see is what you get.

"Let me say it again, I am proud to be your football coach," Rhoads told joyous Iowa State fans from the 2009 Insight Bowl victory platform after ISU beat Minnesota, 14-13.

By then the Cyclone bandwagon had already left the station.

Go back two months before the Insight Bowl, to the Iowa State locker room following ISU's 9-7 win at Big 12 North Division champion Nebraska on Oct. 24.

Above the ear-shattering noise of a wild celebration, Rhoads implored his team to hear him clearly. Injury and illness had depleted the ISU squad (the Cyclones played without starting quarterback Austen Arnaud and starting tailback Alexander Robinson) after the team had just scored Iowa State's first win in Lincoln, Neb. in 32 years.

"We had people tired everywhere, we had people sore everywhere," an emotional Rhoads told his jubilant players, his voice wavering from a mix of elation and exhaustion. His next words have become synonymous with the Phoenix-like ascendancy of the Iowa State football program under Rhoads.

"Listen to me, listen to me," Rhoads said in a hoarse voice, struggling to be heard above the clamor of victory. "I am so proud to be your football coach."

That statement, which ignited another round of uninhibited uproar, is just what Iowa State fans across the country wanted to hear. The echo of those words has boomeranged back from Cyclone fans. The feeling is mutual. The moment, poignant for its spontaneity and sincerity, was caught on video and featured on networks across the country. CBS would call it one of college football's top moments of the decade. The clip has been viewed more than 320,000 times on YouTube. Fans have embraced Rhoads for his down-to-earth demeanor and personality in seasons that have exceeded expectations.

The historical significance of Rhoads' success in his first Iowa State season was underscored by his place as the first Cyclone football coach to win seven games in his initial campaign since 1907. He was the first coach in ISU history to post a winning record in his initial Cyclone season since 1931. Each win in his first Iowa State gridiron campaign vanquished another streak of recent futility. The win at Kent State was ISU's first road victory since 2005 and the Cyclones' victory over Nebraska the program's first conference road win since the same season.

Rhoads is a former defensive coordinator and the 2009 Cyclones made remarkable strides on that side of the ball. Iowa State held three conference opponents to 10 points or less for the first time since 1965. Iowa State was 68th nationally in red zone defense in 2008. In 2009, the Cyclones ranked second-best among 120 FBS teams in that category. Iowa State's defenders were ninth nationally in turnovers forced. The defense's anchor, linebacker Jesse Smith, earned first-team all-conference honors. Strong safety David Sims was named by the league's coaches as the Big 12 Defensive Newcomer of the Year. In 2010, led by a young defense featuring all-conference sophomore linebackers Jake Knott and A.J. Klein, Iowa State improved in total defense over the previous season for the second straight year.

Offensively, Rhoads has implemented a version of the spread attack that in 2009 made Alexander Robinson Iowa State's first 1,000-yard rusher since 2004. Quarterback Austen Arnaud finished his career ranking second on the all-time Iowa State list in passing yards and total offense.

Born in Nevada, Iowa, just 10 minutes from Jack Trice Stadium, Rhoads came back to Iowa State after a year as defensive coordinator at Auburn. His stellar track record complements his Iowa roots. The man who was valedictorian at Ankeny High School, one of the largest schools in the state (located just 20 minutes south of Ames), Rhoads was the ideal individual to take control of the ISU football program.

Rhoads coordinated the Pitt defense for eight seasons (2000-07) before moving to Auburn in the same role in 2008.

His resume includes a 2004 Big East Conference championship with the Panthers. Five of the defenses he coordinated ranked in the nation's Top 30 for scoring and three in the NCAA's Top 12 for fewest yards allowed. His aggressive philosophy allowed Pitt to score 10 defensive touchdowns from 2004-06.

Rhoads' last two defenses (Auburn in 2008 and Pitt in 2007) before coming to Ames ranked 15th nationally in scoring defense and fifth in total defense, respectively. The Sporting News named him the best defensive coordinator in the Big East Conference.

Rhoads coordinated defenses for both Walt Harris and Dave Wannstedt at Pitt. He was approached by Auburn's Tommy Tuberville to move to Auburn in 2002 after two spectacular seasons at Pitt but turned down the offer. Tuberville again offered Rhoads his top defensive coaching position prior to the 2008 season and he accepted.

Rhoads' familiarity with Iowa State goes back to his youth growing up in central Iowa but also includes a five-year stint as inside linebackers (1995) and secondary (1996-99) coach with the Cyclones. He was a member of Dan McCarney's first staff at Iowa State.

Six of Rhoads' former defensive backs have been drafted by the National Football League, including Pitt's Darrelle Revis (the 14th overall pick by the Jets) in 2007. He has coached in seven bowl games, including the 2005 Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and the 2000 Insight Bowl (against Iowa State), and the 2002 Insight Bowl with Pitt. Fourteen of his Panther defenders earned first-team All-Big East honors including H.B. Blades (the 2006 Big East Defensive Player of the Year) and Scott McKillop (the nation's leading tackler in 2007). Blades and McKillop both earned All-America honors.

The Iowa State head coach lettered three seasons (1986-88) as a defensive back at Missouri Western.

Rhoads earned a bachelor's degree in economics in 1989 at Missouri Western and was the recipient of the Chris Faros Scholarship, which honors the football team's top senior student-athlete. Rhoads added a master's degree from Utah State in 1991.

Rhoads' father, Cecil, was a high school coach for more than three decades and has been inducted into the Iowa High School Football Coaches Hall of Fame. His mother, Mary, was a teacher and homemaker. Rhoads is the youngest of five children. Paul and his wife, Vickie, a former basketball player at Missouri Western, have two boys, Jake and Wyatt.

Rhoads has been active in the Central Iowa community and has participated in the work of the Alzheimer's Association of Greater Iowa, Children and Families of Iowa and the Iowa Caregivers Association.

Iowa State, with former running back George Amundson now playing quarterback, was hot out of the gate, bolting to a 5-1 record. When the Cyclones fought to a 23-23 tie in Ames against No. 3 Nebraska on Nov. 11, they were ranked an all-time high 12th nationally with a 5-2-1 record. ISU accepted an invitation to the Liberty Bowl to face Georgia Tech. In the bowl game, Iowa State scored on a 5-yard TD pass from Amundson to Ike Harris that left ISU down 31-30 with

Iowa State's high hopes for junior college transfer quarterback Seneca Wallace were not unfounded. The Sacramento, Calif., native would be the 2001 Big 12 Conference Offensive Newcomer of the Year. Wallace's pinpoint passing and ability to run in the open field like a kick returner helped him rack up a then-school-record 2,519 yards of total offense. In the regular season finale against Iowa, Wallace was at his best, completing 20-of-27 passes for 228 yards and a touchdown. The Cyclones went on to dominate Alabama in the Independence Bowl, outgaining the Crimson Tide, 456-259. Wallace threw for 284 yards and Ennis Haywood rushed for 125 yards on 20 carries, but ISU had trouble converting long drives into points. When Tony Yelk's 47-yard field-goal attempt was wide by inches or less as the final seconds ticked off the clock, Alabama escaped with a 14-13 victory.

Seneca Wallace was voted MainStay Independence Bowl offensive player of the game, completing 25-of-42 passes for 284 yards.

The first half of the 2002 ISU football season was unforgettable. Iowa State nearly upset Florida State in the season-opening Eddie Robinson Classic in Kansas City, Mo. Quarterback Seneca Wallace led a furious nationally televised comeback at Iowa when the Cyclones trailed 24-7, bringing his team back for a 36-31 victory. On Sept. 28, No. 19 Iowa State beat No. 20 Nebraska in Ames, ISU's first win over the Huskers since 1992. On national television the following week against Texas Tech in Ames, Wallace concocted a wild, scrambling 12-yard TD run that covered 135 yards in the Cyclones' 31-17 victory. The win improved Iowa State to 6-1 and ISU ranked an all-time school-high ninth on the Associated Press poll. Little was expected of the 2004 Iowa State Cyclones. A 2-10 2003 season was fresh in the minds of the Big 12 Conference media, which picked ISU sixth (last) in the league's North Division because there was no seventh. When Dan McCarney's Cyclones started 2-4 overall and 0-3 in the Big 12, it seemed to affirm the pessimists' prognostications. But Iowa State finished with a vengeance, winning its next four games. The biggest triumph was at Kansas State. ISU trailed 23-9 in the fourth quarter but rallied for a stirring 37-23 victory. The Cyclones lost in overtime to Missouri the following week but still tied for the Big 12 North Division title. In the Independence Bowl, Iowa State prevailed for a 17-13 win as freshman quarterback Bret Meyer rolled up 236 yards of total offense. All-Big 12 cornerback Ellis Hobbs iced the win with a 41-yard interception return in the game's final minute, the final play of a great Cyclone career.

Freshman quarterback Bret Meyer earned the Independence Bowl's offensive player of the game trophy after rushing for 122 of ISU's bowl-record 295 yards on the ground, adding 114 passing yards.

Nik Moser logged 10 tackles and broke up one pass against Miami, earning Independence Bowl defensive-player-of-the-game honors.
